Please Answer the Following Open-Ended Questions.

1. What, if anything, did you find useful in this course? Please elaborate.
   Very analytical approaches to presenting material.

2. What, if anything, did you not find useful in this course? Please elaborate.
   Not enough math/statistics involved in the projects for an economics course.

3. What specific things, if any, do you believe that the instructor could do to improve this course?
   More math/statistics in lectures/projects; more underlying theory could be presented too; when students are presenting, don't interrupt so much.

4. Any other comments you would like to make:
   Condy, you really did a tremendous job. There are always areas for improvement, yet you were probably the most engaging TA I have had at maximal. I think this added a lot to the overall value of the class.
Please Answer the Following Open-Ended Questions.

1. What, if anything, did you find useful in this course? Please elaborate.
   I really appreciate how you use the chalkboard for graphs and equations. You clearly take time to prep your explanations and I found this to be very helpful overall.

2. What, if anything, did you not find useful in this course? Please elaborate.
   For selfish reasons, your challenging questions. However, your tough questions really helped me to start thinking in a more economical way.

3. What specific things, if any, do you believe that the instructor could do to improve this course?
   Continue your prep for classes. I understand your outlines and it is helpful to know where you are headed next so I think just keep up the good work.
   Also, you’re very easy to listen to in lecture format, I don’t mind it but feel free to press us for questions and discussion if

4. Any other comments you would like to make: You want that
   I like your asides which are brief and to the point and help to give context to your overarching point. I think you’re going to be a great professor and you have been an awesome TA.
   You give great examples that are simple and easy to understand off the top of your head. Thank you.
Please Answer the Following Open-Ended Questions.

1. What, if anything, did you find useful in this course? Please elaborate.

   "All of the course topics were very interesting and I know what I have learned will be valuable to my future career."

2. What, if anything, did you not find useful in this course? Please elaborate.

   "Some of the readings were incredibly dense and I often felt myself getting lost in the article instead of truly understanding the learning objective of the piece."

3. What specific things, if any, do you believe that the instructor could do to improve this course?

   "I honestly believe that even just a few minutes at the end of class spent in setting up the next topic (what we should get from each article, things to look out for, what economic principles to keep in mind) would have been useful."

4. Any other comments you would like to make:

   "Ceady, you were incredibly valuable to the course. Making the class engaging and easy to understand. Your explanations were thorough and easily understandable, and you have a laid-back, relatable presentation style that I appreciate. You're fun and made quite a pair! My only advice that I might give is that when you present an article, you tend to focus exclusively on that article and do not bring in many other sources, points of reference and even your own opinions. I do think that would have been helpful."

1. What, if anything, did you find useful in this course? Please elaborate.

The Hil papers were very insightful. I think trying to use papers with varied models will greatly help the students. You have done a good job of conveying instructive and helpful feedback.

2. What, if anything, did you not find useful in this course? Please elaborate.

3. What specific things, if any, do you believe that the instructor could do to improve this course?

Posting the materials on blackboard earlier would help us to read in the beginning of the week.

4. Any other comments you would like to make:

Cady, I think you will be a very good instructor. You seem to have mastered the materials well and teach it well. I would suggest that when you are teaching other students, especially if they are not graduate students, to make sure that they are not intimidated because of your viewpoint. However, your passion for the subject is excellent and must be conserved.
Please Answer the Following Open-Ended Questions.

1. What, if anything, did you find useful in this course? Please elaborate.
   - Very interesting
   - Had little previous health policy background
   - Good breakdown of complex econ concepts

2. What, if anything, did you not find useful in this course? Please elaborate.
   - Some of the economics was a little over my head at times

3. What specific things, if any, do you believe that the instructor could do to improve this course?
   - Provide an outline to lecture

4. Any other comments you would like to make:
   * Coady -> you "dumbed" things down very well. You described the economics in a very understandable way.
   Thanks!
Please Answer the Following Open-Ended Questions.

1. What, if anything, did you find useful in this course? Please elaborate.

   The explanation of theories, using the blackboard to draw things out is helpful in understanding some of the abstract concepts. Very good job at framing where you're discussion is going.

2. What, if anything, did you not find useful in this course? Please elaborate.

   The organization of the course was unsettled, but is to be expected w/ a first year course. For example, timing of when readings were posted, what is expected of students, etc., but not necessarily under your control.

3. What specific things, if any, do you believe that the instructor could do to improve this course?

   Maybe provide handouts or lecture notes to supplement the lecture.

1. What, if anything, did you find useful in this course? Please elaborate.
   Thoughtful and intellectually stimulating. I liked the dialogue Coady creates in class.

2. What, if anything, did you not find useful in this course? Please elaborate.

3. What specific things, if any, do you believe that the instructor could do to improve this course?

4. Any other comments you would like to make:
   Great job. Thank you for your efforts.
Please Answer the Following Open-Ended Questions.

1. What, if anything, did you find useful in this course? Please elaborate.

There the Phelps book, it helped frame our more curriculum-specific readings and formed the basis of the economic evaluation of health issues.

2. What, if anything, did you not find useful in this course? Please elaborate.

3. What specific things, if any, do you believe that the instructor could do to improve this course?

Maybe more participation. I know we were a tough class which lent more to lecture, but maybe more specific questions beyond "What did you guys think?" would help things.

4. Any other comments you would like to make:

Great course. I wish I had taken it for a grade, and thus, put a little more time into reading and class preparation.
